NextProf Science
Diversifying Academia

May 26-29, 2015
Future Faculty Workshop at the University of Michigan

Develop Your Career

The NextProf Science 2015 Workshop will help you—a talented scientist with a demonstrated commitment to diversity—explore what is involved in pursuing exciting and rewarding careers in academia. Your expenses for travel, lodging, and meals will be covered.

At NextProf Science, you will learn:

- how the faculty search process works
- how to build successful research programs
- how to form a teaching and mentoring philosophy
- why a network is important

Expand your network at NextProf. Join colleagues, faculty, career experts, and academic leaders from across the country. Learn how diverse faculty meet the challenges of research and teaching. Share conversations with successful faculty members about their goals and views of academia.
