Two teaching positions at the University of Florida Department of Statistics

The Department of Statistics at the University of Florida seeks qualified applicants for two 9-month academic year lecturer renewable positions to begin in August 16, 2020. Primary duties for the first position include the teaching of undergraduate statistics courses. Primary duties for the second position include the teaching of undergraduate statistics courses for non-majors. For both positions, interest in online teaching is a plus. There will also be opportunities for teaching graduate statistics courses.

The role of lecturers is highly valued by the department and the university. To encourage and facilitate their professional development, lecturers at the University of Florida are eligible for promotion through the ranks of Lecturer, Senior Lecturer, and Master Lecturer. Opportunities for summer teaching are likely.

The Department is committed to creating an environment that affirms diversity across a variety of dimensions, including ethnicity/race, gender identity and expression. We particularly welcome applicants who can contribute to such an environment through their scholarship, teaching, mentoring, and professional service. The university and greater Gainesville community enjoy a diversity of cultural event, restaurants, year-round outdoor recreational activity, and social opportunities.
For full consideration, applications must be submitted online at apply.interfolio.com/55146 (for the first position) and apply.interfolio.com/56970 (for the second position) and must include: (1) a letter summarizing the applicant's qualifications and interests in the Department, (2) a complete curriculum vitae including statistics teaching background and experience, (3) a link to a short (5-10 minute) instructional video prepared by the applicant on a topic of his or her choice, and (4) three confidential letters of recommendation.

Applications will be reviewed beginning December 2, 2019 as received and the position will remain open until filled. To ensure full consideration, application materials should be received by December 9, 2019. All candidates for employment are subject to a pre-employment screening which includes a review of criminal records, reference checks, and verification of education. Send email inquiries to lecturersearch@stat.ufl.edu.
