Lecturer I Position in Statistics, University of Michigan

Job Summary

The Department of Statistics at the University of Michigan is seeking to fill a Lecturer I position. This is a single term appointment which can be extended subject to departmental needs and satisfactory performance.

The initial appointment will be for the period of January 1, 2018 to April 30, 2018 with the possibility for spring/summer teaching.

Responsibilities

Responsibilities include teaching courses such lab sections of Stats 250.

Required Qualifications

Candidates should have a PhD in Statistics or related field with some university-level teaching experience. Those with a Master's degree and extensive teaching experience will also be considered.

Additional Information

The Department of Statistics has a diverse faculty and has several programs: an undergraduate major, two undergraduate minors, two Master's degrees, and a Ph.D. Further information about the department can be found at www.stat.lsa.umich.edu.

Union Affiliation

This position is covered under the collective bargaining agreement between the U-M and the Lecturers Employee Organization, AFL-CIO, which contains and settles all matters with respect to wages, benefits, hours and other terms and conditions of employment.

Contact Information

Questions about this position can be directed to the Department Chair at stat-posting@umich.edu.

How to Apply
Candidates should submit a letter of application with a current CV, description of qualifications, teaching philosophy, evidence of teaching excellence, and three letters of recommendations. The application package should be sent to stat-posting@umich.edu.

Application Deadline

Applications will be considered until the position is filled filled or October 12, 2017, whichever occurs first.

U-M EEO/AA Statement

The University of Michigan is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer.