Rutgers School of Public Health Department of Biostatistics: Open rank position

The School of Public Health invites applications for multiple open rank faculty positions. The successful applicants will be expected to develop and sustain an extramurally funded research program, contribute to the teaching mission, and mentor MS, MPH and doctoral students. Departments are recruiting in the broad areas of biostatistics, bioinformatics, cancer epidemiology, health disparities, environmental health sciences, infectious disease, maternal and child health, global health, obesity, physical activity, tobacco control, alcohol and opioid use, mental health, behavioral economics, health services research, health care reform, and health policy.

Interested applicants can find the job listing at: jobs.rutgers.edu/postings/35929